

Outlined Document

An outlined document carries a bookmark tree alongside its pages. Screen readers and sidebar views use the outline for navigation, so the first heading of a section can come from a bookmark.

Both bookmarks in this fixture point at the top of a page through explicit array destinations.

Second Section

The second section sits on its own page so the second bookmark has an unambiguous target. Heading recovery should prefer the outline entry when one points at this page.